

Lesson 01

Introduction and Networking

Warm-up

Think about the last time you met a new colleague or business contact.

How did you introduce yourself?

If you could improve your introduction, what would you change?

Role-Play

Practice Introducing Yourself (10 minutes)

Example Format: [Self-Introduction Structure]

Greeting: "Hello, let me introduce myself."

Name and Role: "I'm [Name], and I work in [Industry/Role]."

Experience and Interests: "I have been in this field for [X years] and specialize in [Skill/Area]."

Engagement: It's great to meet professionals like you!"

Role-Play Analysis

1. Was your introduction clear and well-structured?
2. Did you include key details (name, role, company, and experience)?
3. Did you sound confident and natural, or did you hesitate?
4. How could you improve your tone or body language even in a virtual setting)?
5. Did you make the conversation engaging by asking a follow-up question?

Stressed Syllables

Practice pronouncing these words with the correct stress:

- | | |
|-----------------|--------------------------|
| 1. background | 1. back GROUND |
| 2. exchange | 2. ex CHANGE |
| 3. engage | 3. en GAGE |
| 4. impression | 4. im PRESS ion |
| 5. professional | 5. pro FESS ional |

Intonation Practice A

Read the sentences below with the correct intonation.

Falling intonation (↘) – used in statements and wh- questions

1. Let me introduce myself. ↘
2. I work in software development. ↘
3. It was nice to meet you. ↘

Rising intonation (↗) – used in yes/no questions

1. What brings you here today? ↗
2. Are you attending the networking session later? ↗

Intonation Practice B

Take turns saying these sentences with correct intonation.

1. Let me introduce myself.
2. Are you attending the networking session later?
3. I work as a software developer at ABC tech.
4. Have you been to this tech conference before?
5. It's a pleasure to meet you.
6. Would you like to exchange contact details?
7. We specialize in cloud computing solutions.
8. Where did you work before joining this company?
9. Can I introduce you to my colleague?
10. Is this your first time working on AI projects?

Production

Speed networking challenge

1. Pair up with a partner.
2. Introduce yourself using formal greetings and key networking phrases
(e.g., "Let me introduce myself. [work] as [role] at [company].")
3. Ask & respond to networking questions
(e.g., "What brings you here today?" or "Would you like to exchange LinkedIn profiles?")
4. Engage in conversation for 2-3 minutes, then switch partners.
5. Sound natural and confident
6. Wrap up by sharing one takeaway from the conversation.

Key Vocabulary

Word/Phrase	Use	Example
What brings you here today?	Networking opener	What brings you here today? Are you attending the AI workshop?
Where do you work?	Asking about someone's workplace	Where do you work? – I work at Tech Solutions.
I work in [industry/role].	Stating professional background	I work in cybersecurity as a network engineer.
Engage in...	Participate in a conversation/activity	It's important to engage in networking to expand professional connections.
Let me introduce myself.	Formal way to introduce yourself	Let me introduce myself. My name is _____, and I work in _____.
Would you like to exchange contact details?	Offering to stay in touch	I'd love to connect. Would you like to exchange contact details?
It's great to connect.	Used in networking situations	It's great to connect. Let's keep in touch!
Networking	Building and maintaining professional relationships to exchange information, gain opportunities, and grow in a career or industry	Attending tech conferences and joining online forums are great ways for IT professionals to enhance their network and stay updated on industry trends.
Department	A division in a company	I work in the Marketing Department.
Colleague	A person you work with	I'd like to introduce you to my colleague, Dave.
Make an impression...	Create a strong first impression	A confident introduction helps you make a great first impression.

Video

How to Introduce Yourself at Networking Events

KEY INSIGHTS

What are the three main areas of conversation that you could use to introduce yourself?

How would these lead to a start of good networking?

Test Yourself

Complete the sentences below with the correct words related to introducing yourself and networking in a business context.

1. Hello, my name is ____, and I work as a ____ at LKS Tech.
2. In a networking event, it's important to give a brief but clear ____ about your role and expertise.
3. When introducing yourself in a professional setting, always maintain good ____ and speak confidently.
4. One effective way to expand your professional network is by attending ____ and engaging in online forums.
5. In my current role, I specialize ____, which help businesses improve their software development processes.

End-of-Lesson Task

You have just joined a professional IT networking group on LinkedIn.

Write a short self-introduction. (80-100 words) to post in the group.

- Your name and job title
- Your company and industry specialization
- Your key skills or areas of expertise
- What you hope to gain from networking in the group

Summary

- ✓ Use formal greetings (“Nice to meet you.”)
- ✓ Introduce yourself professionally (“Let me introduce myself. I work in [role] at [company].”)
- ✓ Engage in a small talk (“What brings you here today?”)
- ✓ Exchange contact details professionally “Would you like to connect on LinkedIn?”)

“A confident introduction helps build strong business connections!”