

Lesson 05

Review 01: Lessons 01 - 04

Warm-up

Discussion:

1. Why is networking important?
2. What's a key aspect of a good organizational structure?

Grammar

1. Simple Present Tense

- Use: Describe facts, routines, and processes
- Examples:
 - ✓ The server updates its software automatically every night.

2. Passive Voice

- Use: Emphasize processes and results instead of the performer.
- Structure: [Object] + is/ are + past participle
- Examples:
 - ✓ The developer writes the code for the new application.
 - ✓ The system administrator monitors the servers' performance continuously.

3. Relative Clauses for Describing Roles and Departments

- Use: Provide extra details about IT roles, processes, or systems
- Examples:
 - ✓ The system architect, who designs the network infrastructure, ensures that the data flow is secure and efficient.
 - ✓ The testing department, which validates the software's functionality, identifies and reports any bugs before the release.

Use who (for people), that/which (for things), and commas to add other details.

4. Complex Sentences for Professionalism

- Use: connect multiple ideas logically in emails, reports, and presentations
- Examples:
 - ✓ Although the project manager coordinates with various departments, such as Software Testing and Network Engineering, the reporting structure dictates that all technical issues must first be escalated to the Department Head, who then assigns resources accordingly.

5. Conjunctions (e.g., because, although, since) improve clarity in explanations.

Practice

1. Role-Play: Quick Networking

Work in pairs and role-play 1-2 business scenarios using relevant key phrases. You can repeat with a new partner and new card or switch role after each round.

Useful phrases:

- "I'm responsible for..."
- "I'd like to introduce..."
- "Nice to meet you. What do you do at [company]?"
- "Where are you based?"
- "How's your current project going?"

Scenarios:

1. You're meeting a new client at a conference. Introduce yourself and ask a question about their company.
2. A new colleague joins your team. Greet them, introduce your role, and ask about their experience.
3. You're starting a meeting. Introduce yourself and give a quick overview of the agenda.

4. You're at a networking lunch. Ask polite small talk questions about location, travel, or recent events.
5. You've just been introduced to someone from another department during a company event. Ask them about their role, team, and current project.

2. Mini Debate – “Agree or Disagree?”

Work in pairs or small groups and choose 1-2 business opinions below. Decide if you agree or disagree, and explain why. Use examples from your experience.

Statements:

1. “Introductions in meetings should always be short.”
2. “Networking online is more effective than networking face-to-face.”
3. “Organizational charts are not important; people just work together anyway.”
4. “Small talk wastes time in business meetings.”
5. “In international teams, it's better to avoid personal topics.”

Useful language:

- “I agree because...” / “I disagree because...”
- “That's an interesting point, but I think...”
- “Can you give an example?”
- “In my experience...”
- “What do you think about...?”

Production

ROLE-PLAY: BUSINESS SCENARIOS

Pair up and act out the assigned scenarios. Add more to the dialogue to keep the conversation going for 2 minutes using the appropriate phrases or vocabulary.

1. Professional Introductions

- (Person A): "Hello! It's quite a gathering. What brings you here today?"
- (Person B): "Nice to meet you. I'm representing the marketing department. And you?"
- (Person A): "Ah, interesting! I work in product development at Innovate Solutions. Let me introduce myself properly..."
- (Person B): "It's great to connect with someone outside my usual team. Would you be open to exchanging contact details?"

2. Building Business Relationships

- Person A: "Interesting presentation on supply chain solutions."
- Person B: "Thanks! We're always looking for improvements."
- Person A: "I saw some potential opportunities there."
- Person B: "Oh! Tell me more."

3. Explaining Organizational Structures

- "Our company is structured into multiple departments, each with its own specific focus."
- "I personally report to the Head of Marketing."
- "The marketing team is responsible for developing and executing our promotional strategies."
- "How are things organized in your company?"

4. Describing Workplace Hierarchy

Presentation Structure:

1. Introduction & Company Overview
2. Corporate Divisions & Subsidiaries
3. Reporting Structure -Key Personnel
4. Team/Department Deep Dive (Focus on IT)
5. Company Culture & Collaboration
6. Q&A and Wrap-Up

The trainer provides feedback after all the presentations.

Discussion:

- Which phrases from today's class do you think are most useful at work?
- How confident do you feel about introducing yourself or a colleague now?
- Can you use the language from today in your real job?
- What is one thing you want to improve next time?

Key Vocabulary

Word/Phrase	Example
What brings you here today?	What brings you here today? Are you attending the AI workshop?
Where do you work?	Where do you work? – I work at Tech Solutions .
I work in [industry/role].	I work in cybersecurity as a network engineer.
Engage in...	It's important to engage in networking to expand professional connections.
Let me introduce myself.	Let me introduce myself. My name is ____, and I work in ____.
Would you like to exchange contact details?	I'd love to connect. Would you like to exchange contact details?
It's great to connect.	It's great to connect. Let's keep in touch!
Direct report	As a team leader, I have three direct reports who handle content creation and social media strategy
Chain of command	If there's an issue with a project, we follow the chain of command and report it to our line manager first before escalating it
Organizational structure	Our organizational structure is divided into different teams, including sales, engineering, and customer support
Line manager	My line manager is Jason Lee, the Marketing Manager, who oversees my daily tasks and approves my projects.

Networking	Networking plays a crucial role in communication by enabling individuals and organizations to share information efficiently across various digital platforms.
Department	I work in the Marketing Department.
Colleague	I'd like to introduce you to my colleague, Dave.
Make an impression...	A confident introduction helps you make a great first impression.
Corporate Division	"The company decided to restructure its corporate division to improve efficiency and streamline operations."
Head of	"She is the head of Marketing."
Reporting Structure	"Our reporting structure is hierarchical."
Subsidiary	"We operate as a subsidiary of Soft Tech."
Team Leader	"The team leader assigns tasks."

Summary

- Master introductions and build networks confidently using specific vocabulary for professional interactions.
- Learn formal greetings and practice targeted networking for professional connections.
- Identify and describe chains of command, and departments for clear workplace orientation.